Sedgwick County Commissioner to Participate in Neighborhood Drainage Discussion

(Sedgwick County, Kansas) – Second District Commissioner Tim Norton and Sedgwick County Public Works staff will participate in a neighborhood meeting to discuss future drainage improvements on Saturday, August 4. The meeting will be held at 1:00 pm at the Haysville Activity Center, 7106 S. Broadway.

Citizens who live in the area between 81st St. S. and 87th St. S. from Hydraulic to the Kansas Turnpike could be affected by the project and have been invited to the meeting, which has been organized by a group of neighborhood residents.

The meeting will focus on the options available to residents as Sedgwick County begins plans for drainage improvements in the area. Engineers hired by Sedgwick County have already completed a drainage and groundwater study of the area, but residents are expected to pay for improvements in their immediate neighborhood. Sedgwick County is also footing the bill for the installation of a major storm sewer that will run along 87th Street South from Hydraulic to the Kansas Turnpike and then south.
